

The News from FlightSafety...

FLIGHTSAFETY INTERNATIONAL NAMES ED BUCKLEY MANAGER, STRATEGIC PLANNING & SUPPORT, COURSEWARE SUPPORT

LA GUARDIA AIRPORT, New York (March 30, 2009) –FlightSafety International is pleased to announce that Ed Buckley has joined the company’s courseware support department as Manager, Strategic Planning & Support.

FlightSafety’s courseware support designs, develops and distributes the training materials used throughout the company’s network of Learning Centers and in eLearning. Designers and engineers translate the software used in FlightSafety’s simulators into training curriculums, programs and course content. The department manages the development and deployment of the materials and ensures compliance with regulations established by aviation regulatory authorities worldwide.

“We are delighted that Ed has joined the courseware support team,” said Jon Pollack, Director, Courseware Support, FlightSafety International. “His contributions and extensive background in project, supply chain & logistics management and corporate shared services will help us to continue to provide industry leading training programs.”

Buckley started his career in the construction industry and held various management roles on safety critical and public entertainment projects, including the Millennium Dome in the United Kingdom. Prior to joining FlightSafety, Ed was with Blue Ambit, a supply chain management software company, and Capital One in the United States and Europe. As a Senior Director at Capital One, he was responsible for shared services and corporate real estate as well as for the successful deployment of corporate training centers, advanced workplace environments and the company’s corporate campus in Plano, TX.

Ed received a Bachelor Degree from the University of Salford and a Master of Business Administration from the Open University in the United Kingdom. He regularly speaks on change management and innovation in the workplace and is currently engaged with community leadership programs in Frisco, TX and Habitat for Humanity.

FlightSafety International is the world’s premier professional aviation training company and supplier of flight simulators, visual systems and displays to commercial, government and military organizations. We provide more than a million hours of training each year to pilots, technicians and other aviation professionals. FlightSafety operates the world’s largest fleet of advanced full flight simulators at our extensive network of Learning Centers located in the United States, Canada and Europe.

#####